PART 2: Doors

Step 1

At Brenlo, we begin by understanding your unique vision for the perfect door. Whether it's inspired by a photo from Pinterest, Instagram, or an image of your own, we use your ideas as the foundation. Together, we collaborate to refine the custom design, considering every detail—panels, profiles, glass accents, and finishes—to ensure it aligns with your aesthetic and functional goals.

Step 2

In this step, we source premium materials to craft exceptional doors. From the elegance of walnut and oak's strength to maple's smooth finish and mahogany's richness, we choose wood known for durability and beauty. We also incorporate precise dimensions and unique elements like metal inlays or glass accents, ensuring every detail meets the highest standards of craftsmanship.

Step 3

In the third step, we finalize pricing by factoring in materials, dimensions, glass elements, and labor costs. Once confirmed, our technical team crafts detailed CAD drawings, ensuring every specification and material choice is flawlessly integrated. This stage sets the foundation for precise execution and impeccable results.

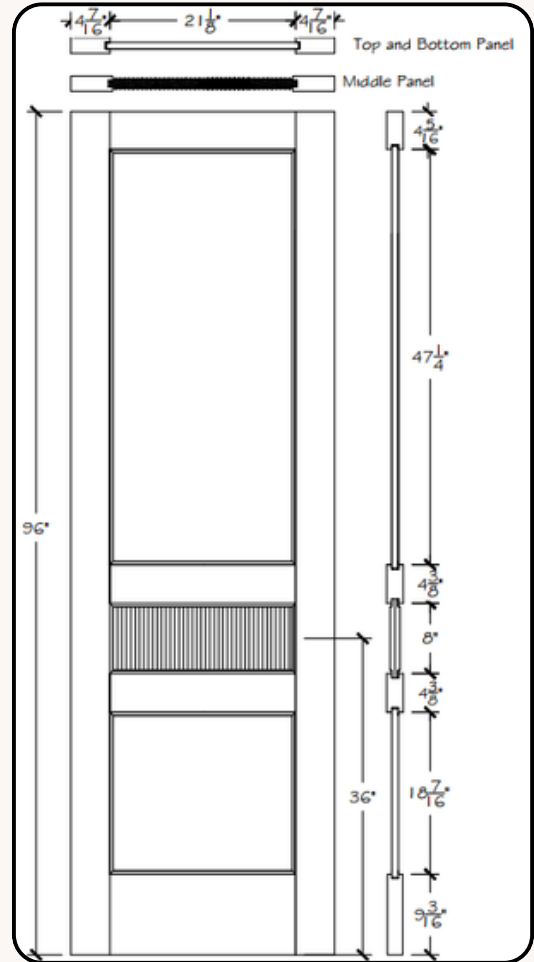

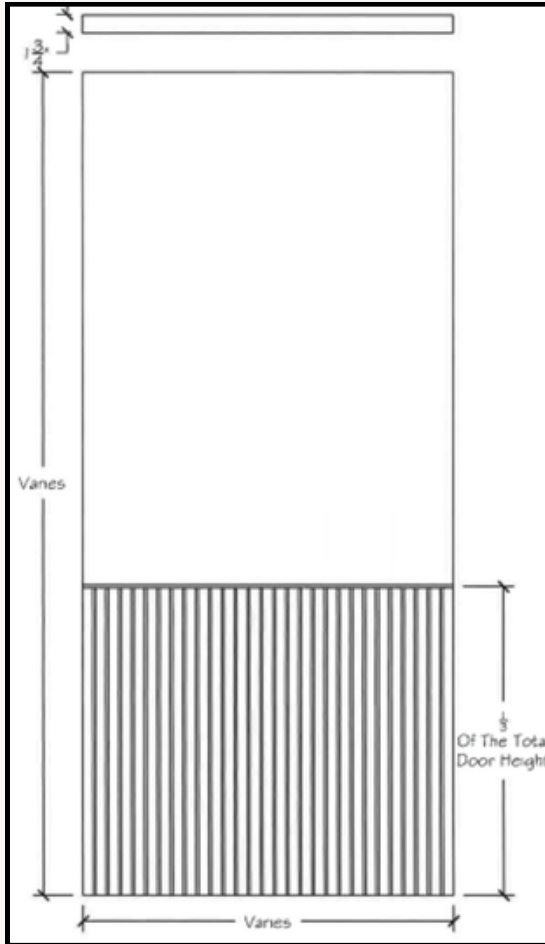

Step 4

Just like our customization process for mouldings, the final step for your door ensures every detail is perfect. You'll review and approve the quote and CAD design, refining the vision to match your exact specifications. Once finalized, we bring your design to life, shaping each panel, curve, and accent with precision. With a clear timeline, your custom door is expertly crafted and delivered, turning your vision into a beautifully tailored reality.

Matt's Path to Outside Sales Success

Matt Do Nascimento

Meet Matt, a dedicated and driven member of our team who has excelled as an Inside Sales Representative at Brenlo for the past year and 5 months. Now transitioning to the role of Outside Sales Representative, Matt is eager to continue fostering strong client relationships and showcasing Brenlo's ability to elevate any project.

One of the highlights of Matt's career so far has been achieving his largest sale to date. This accomplishment was no small feat—it required countless emails, phone calls, and staying late to service the customer. Matt's persistence and hard work transformed this challenge into a significant and rewarding milestone.

So, what drives Matt? A passion for success fuels his determination to set ambitious goals and achieve them. Outside of work, Matt enjoys spending quality time with family and friends, playing poker with his buddies, fishing, listening to music, and both watching and playing sports.

We're excited to watch Matt thrive in his new role as an OSR and look forward to all the incredible achievements he will bring to Brenlo. Congratulations, Matt, on this well-deserved promotion!
